Welcome Back! We at CEDaR hope everyone had a great, restful, and perhaps even productive summer! As we start a new Fall semester, we're excited to continue working with the JRCoE community to support faculty and students in their scholarly and research pursuits. We have planned a semester of workshops and events to further our collective writing, research and scholarly goals. This includes a new workshop series about the academic job market for doctoral students and multiple opportunities to write in community. CEDaR also remains available to faculty and students for help with research and scholarship via drop-in, scheduled consultations, or through email and Zoom. Please connect with us at cedar@ou.edu and join our Canvas for access to more resources. Here's looking forward to a great Fall semester!
